COPPER(FEBRUARY) MCX WEEKLY CHART

WEEKLY PIVOT
S1	459.80
S2	453.90
PP	465.70
R1	471.70
R2	477.60

TECHNICAL VIEW – Copper last week closing is 465.90, price did not sustain above resistance of 471.55 and closed below this level, bearish engulfing pattern on top is showing some more selling that is around 459.80 level, overall trend is very strong this profit booking will attract more buying around 465-471 level, MACD and RSI both indicator are in buying zone, next week we are expecting copper opening will be down.

FUNDAMENTAL VIEW - Copper prices recovered marginally on Wednesday after the biggest one day fall in three years in Tuesday's session. However, stronger DX citing passage of US tax bill by both houses continued to hurt dollar denominated metals. Also, doubts regarding demand in China is also hurting the metal as China's copper imports fell to 330,000 metric tons of unwrought copper and copper products in October, 23.2% lower compared to September to the lowest level since April 2017. Copper prices are currently trading higher by 0.4 percent at D 6577 / t. Copper prices are likely to trade sideways today as stronger DX ahead of key Nonfarm payrolls report will continue to bother metal investors. However, expectations that the PBoC will stand pat on interest rates despite tightening policies elsewhere in the developed world will provide a cushion.
